Further suggestions to access grants:

- Make a list of the following groups, search their website for grant opportunities and/or follow up with the appropriate contact person:
 - All of the Government bodies you deal with or that deal in your area of interest/expertise.
 - Any foundations that you know specialise in your area of expertise.
 - Agencies or bodies that aim at dealing with the problems or issues that fall into your area of expertise.
 - Non-profit organisations that have a common interest and find out any external grants they have gained - either by studying their annual reports or by talking to them.
- Talk with groups you already have contact with, and who might be able to help.
- Talk to your local council's community grants or community development officer - both for grants they might offer, or for other groups that might have grants.
- Talk to your State or Federal MP about government grants programs.
- Attend any seminars or talks from grant makers or experienced grant seekers.
