

Custom-Made Training

To ensure our services meet your organisation's needs, Personal Safety Australia aims to incorporate all relevant legislation, organisational policy, procedures and environmental factors into training provided or other services delivered.

Should the various personal safety services listed on this website not satisfy your organisation's requirements, Personal Safety Australia is able to develop or amend services to ensure your specific needs are met in terms of learning objectives, the duration of training, the inclusion of specific content, the training environment and other learner needs.

Please contact us to discuss your requirements.
